

Family History Research

Dale Willenborg spoke at the Treynor Optimist Club on May 2 about Family History Research.

Dale uses a purchased program called RootsMagic to track his family history research. He also uses Ancestry.com, MyHeritage.com, and a variety of other genealogy resources.

Dale showed how he could find the parents and grandparents of Richard Vorthmann. He also found a picture of Richard and LuEtta's tombstone which they purchased and put in the cemetery. He found an Iowa State University picture of Keith Denton. There is a large variety of information about everyone that is readily available to anyone.

If you don't know where to start when looking for relatives, go to a local LDS Family History Center. They have a wide range of free resources that you would normally have to pay for. They also have people available to help. The nearest one is at 2303 Butler Street, Council Bluffs, Iowa.
