New Chiropractor in Treynor Speaks

Dr. Alyssa Blair, spoke on Saturday, December 22 to the Treynor Optimist Club about her chiropractic services. Her office is in her home on the corner of Maple and Sherwood in Treynor. Since October she now has her 75th new patient. She also sees patients at Children's Hospital in Omaha.

Her husband, Cory Blair, is the new history and social studies teacher in the high school and 8th grade. They have three children. They were both raised in the Wall Lake, Lake City area.

Dr. Blair was educated at Palmer Chiropractic in Davenport and worked at the school also. She has her degree in marketing and is a licensed massage therapist. She became interested in chiropractic medicine when her husband at the age of 19 was in a bad accident due to a 25 ft. fall from a crane elevator. He was on seven meds (four for pain) and was eased off the medicine through massage therapy and chiropractic care.

Dr. Blair sees patients with urinary issues, headaches, and other body pain. Her youngest patient is two months old. She tries conservative care first and will send out to medical doctors such as Miller Orthopedic and Nebraska Spine Institute.

Parents/grandparents should note if babies sleep with their arms up, they are a SIDS risk. Also note babies who can't relax on your shoulder. Spinal adjustment can help.

Dr. Blair advises always drinking more water than any other beverage. If you drink coffee or pop, be sure to drink more water than you do those. She also advises doing chin tucks three times a day. Your head weighs approximately 14 lbs, and if you sit or walk with it forward, it becomes a 40 lb. pull on your spine. Squeezing your abdomen muscles also takes pressure off the spine. It is important to strengthen the core.
