COUNTY ATTORNEY WORK LOAD GROWS

Pottawattamie County Attorney Matt Wilber spoke to club members about the first year of his second term of office. He stated this year has been more challenging compared to previous years. His department of fourteen lawyers is dealing with five open murder cases. In addition Wilber explained he spends considerable time dealing with civil matters for the county such as drafting agreements, examining real estate issues, and planning for future operations. Also, he had to deal with the firing of a staff member. Wilber noted that as an elected official he has the responsibility to choose the criminal cases going to trial, the approach of argument for prosecution, and which lawyers to present the case in court. He said junior and senior staff lawyers are often paired to take a case to trial. He doesn't want any one to handle a case unless they feel ready to do so. In response to questions, Wilber noted that lowa has the most restrictive rules against a lawyer advertising his services. Also, evaluations of the actions of judges are not easy to find. It is unethical for lawyers to comment about However, there is an opinion survey by lawyers judges. available from the state bar association.

THERE IS ANOTHER CHOICE

Jean Plourde addressed club members about the Pregnancy Counseling Center called Gabriel's Corner he and his wife, Kathy, established in Council Bluffs last year. Plourde stated that the center which is located at 131 S 16th St celebrated the first year of service in March, and during the first year with their all volunteer staff they counseled 267 women ages 13 to 53. Plourde emphasized they could do more with more volunteer hours. Eighty percent of visitors to Gabriel's Corner were not pregnant. Those that are pregnant are counseled on their choices. If a baby is to be given for adoption Gabriel's Corner can facilitate this through Lutheran Services, Bethany Christian Services, and Catholic Charities. Plourde stated they want to explain the facts and choices regarding pregnancy and the services they provide to young people at schools, churches, and other organizations if the way is open. As a not-for-profit corporation, they are seeking financial support as well as professional support. They plan to expand their services as opportunities arise. Gabriel's Corner can be contacted at 323-
