

Google Program

Dan Harbeke, Head of External Affairs and Public Policy for Google, spoke at the Treynor Optimist's meeting on Sat., March 2. A native of Wheaton, MN he has lived and worked in various states. He worked for fourteen years with transportation policy for Union Pacific and last summer started with Google. He and his wife have two pre-school aged girls.

Self-described as a "Noogler" or New Googler in the business, he shared about the business. Council Bluffs Iowa is the largest data center in the world among the existing eight. It was built 10 years ago. Google announced they are investing $13 B to develop five more data centers to build compute capacity. Iowa is a good location because of the availability of land, an excellent work force, and accessibility to infrastructure resources.

Google offers eight products which include YouTube, Maps, Gmail, Chrome, Search, Drive, Android, and AdSense.

There are 400 employees at Google plus a large number of temporary vendors and consultants. Employees are either Hardware Operators performing technology skills or Data Center Operators performing maintenance of the building and equipment. Security is extremely tight utilizing retinal scans, detectors, secure doors and more. Beginning salaries are disclosed as being in the $40,000-$80,000 range.

"Grow with Google" is coming in April to Council Bluffs and will combine Google representatives with state legislators to provide resources to the local library which can then be checked out by job seekers and people wanting to improve digital skills.

"Impact Challenge" is a new grant program for Iowa provided by Google. It will be similar to Illinois in which $1M was invested and made available in ten - $100,000 grants. Celebrity judges will pick the recipients.

Google has given $1.5 million to the Council Bluffs school (a program called BLINK) to develop computer skills in students. They also financially support non-profit organizations in Council Bluffs to educate children in technology. He stated that many schools in Iowa lack computer science classes and the need is going to be great for jobs in the future.
